

Update: May 2021

Dear Friends

Over the last year or so we have faced vulnerability in new ways. The vulnerability of our own bodies and health, the vulnerability of our church fellowships, of our communities, of the businesses in our communities; the vulnerability of jobs, livelihoods and homes.

Last month, as we celebrated Easter and Christ's resurrection, we also sat with the vulnerability of Jesus who, on Good Friday, emptied himself and became obedient to death; the ultimate vulnerability. With Pentecost around the corner we reflect on and rejoice in the indwelling of the Spirit of God through the lens of this vulnerability.

The picture of Jesus asleep in a boat in the middle of a potentially life challenging storm, is the picture of ultimate vulnerability - and yet ... And yet, the Christ, the Almighty God stands and stills the storm, shows us that vulnerability and power are not separate. Love and faith, vulnerability and power are met together in God.

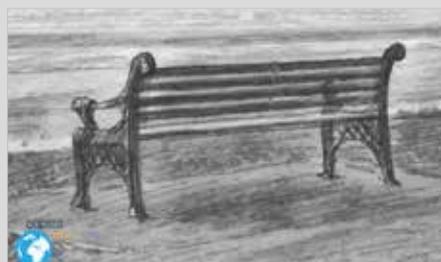

As we are confronted by our own vulnerability, part of our role in the Faith & Society Team is to help a little as you dwell in the midst of those who are vulnerable. We want to resource you, pray with you and maybe, just in a small way, walk with you as you stand and walk with those who are most vulnerable. Our prayer as we point to resources in the email below, is that today you will know the deep, deep love of God who joins us in our vulnerability and leads us on.

Beth, Diane, Hilary, Jane, Mary, Mat, Mike, Paul, Steve and Wale

TableTalk for Change

Following any significant trauma or event, whether that's a global pandemic or something closer to home, there's a need to recover well. But how do we do that? Rather than rush into the new and firmly shut the door on what has gone before, it's important to take time to reflect on what we've been through, acknowledge how we're feeling, and look to what's ahead. This set of TableTalk questions provides the opportunity to talk about the past, present and future. Click here for more information and to order a pack of cards and access to the online version.

JPIT briefing on the new Police Bill

The Police, Crime, Sentencing and Courts (PCSC) Bill is currently progressing through Parliament. The Bill has been the subject of controversy, especially around proposed limitations on protests – but what is actually included in this wide-ranging piece of legislation? And what do Christians have to offer into the debate? Our Joint Public Issues Team has prepared this briefing, which describes the scope of the Bill and explores key areas of interest and concern. It also offers a brief guide to the foundational theology and Christian traditions of protest, and why Christians might choose to engage in conversation around this particular issue. Click here to access this resource.

Politics in the Pulpit?

This new lectionary-based preaching resource from JPIT is available by video and podcast. In weekly 30 minute episodes, they'll ask how reclaiming the justice issues present in the biblical texts helps us to be good news in the world today. Each week will feature a different guest in discussion with Beth Allison-Glenny to discern the political dimensions present in the Scriptures. Together, they will reflect on how they connect with the week's current news and our role in the Kingdom of God. We hope this will be a useful and inspiring tool to resource preachers and worship leaders. Episodes will be released on Tuesday mornings. Click here for the latest episode.
