Due to increased scams and fraud, we have changed our processes, and we will now need evidence of your registered bank account for all withdrawals. This may be in the form of either a bank statement or cancelled cheque/copy of deposit paying-in book. The evidence may be scanned and emailed direct to pnadzanja@baptist.org.uk. These details will be saved securely against your bank account file, to be used and referred to for future withdrawals. Please remember if you change your bank account, you will be required to send similar evidence of new bank account details.

If you are re-investing, please list the three people who are authorising this new account and will be requesting withdrawals from this account. One of them must be the person whose contact details are given overleaf. They will all need to sign below.
